Things to Know

- You can try Ditto for free today if you have a compatible receiver (nothing to ship, setup takes minutes).

- Zoom recommends purchasing a hardware kit and installation service for fully-featured web conferencing.

- Ditto users share via Ditto Connect on every device type.

- Zoom Rooms users connect in different ways depending on device type, which may pose challenges for new users and limit user adoption

- Both solutions enable media file uploads and web URLs for signage, as well as emergency alert broadcasting. Ditto includes customizable signage templates and Canva integration.

- Zoom Rooms utilizes native screen sharing protocols such as AirPlay in some instances; AirPlay requires organizations to permit Bonjour network traffic

- Zoom Rooms requires at minimum an appliance running Zoom Rooms software and in most cases, a Zoom Rooms controller tablet

- The required hardware and subscription make Zoom Rooms one of the most expensive wireless collaboration solutions on the market among comparable products.

What people are saying about Ditto

"Start here. We tried many other versions of screen sharing and this is the best."

— MARK R, G2 REVIEWER

"Ditto gave us the most reliable connection, and it was the easiest way for users to get in and get set up."

— PRESTON NEILL, INFORMATION SYSTEMS MULTIMEDIA TECHNICIAN

"Setup takes minutes, and installation...takes seconds. Everything works seamlessly and easily. We've never had an issue with anyone not being able to connect."

— CHRISTOPHER O, SENIOR ASSOCIATE CONSULTANT

"We replaced the USB drive plugged into our reception area TV with an Apple TV running Ditto. Immediately, the [digital signage] content was dynamic, relevant and fresh."

— LAURIE FITZELL, ICT SUPPORT ANALYST
